

U.S. Terms Say Soviet Troops Withdraw Nehru to Khrushchev Agrees to Conditions, Claims Aggression

Prime Minister Nehru told Premier Khrushchev he would agree to a settlement of the border dispute only on communist withdrawal from the Indian position. He said the message was described as about three pages long.

General Outline

The message was described by an embassy spokesman as a general outline of the Indian position regarding the frontier dispute, which in recent days has developed into heavy fighting, involving thousands of troops on both sides. Today's report suggested the Red Chinese have hauled heavy artillery across the Himalayas and were bringing it into action against Indian forces. The Indians have fallen back repeatedly in the past week, surrendering a number of posts.

Casualties have been described as heavy, but precise numbers have not been stated.

Nehru said he was considering compulsory military training, and Indian women were asked to give up gold ornaments so the government can buy weapons abroad.

Defense Bolstered

Indian troops were being rushed from the west Pakistan border to bolster defenses on the plains of Assam at the foot of the Himalayan mountains in the northeast. India has kept a sizable part of its army facing Pakistan. Informants said the government hoped the United States, a military ally of Pakistan, would try to head off any attempt by Pakistan to take advantage of the emergency to seize the Indian-held part of the bitterly disputed Kashmir state.

The Indian air force requisitioned some civilian airliners to speed troops to northeast India. The government also was requisitioning some civilian airliners to speed troops to northeast India.

Harrisburg Gets Air Siren Scare

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Nerves rubbed raw by the tense Cuban situation were jolted Friday night when a demolition crew's explosion touched off an air raid siren in downtown Harrisburg.

Within minutes, hundreds of worried persons, jammed the switchboards of police stations, newspapers and radio and television stations.

Police said the siren apparently was short-circuited by an explosion set off by workmen demolishing a concrete coal-loader in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards. It took nearly an hour to silence the siren.

U.S. Preparations for Bombing or Invading Cuba Seem Underway

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration appeared today to be preparing the ground for possible bombing or invasion of Cuba unless it starts dismantling its Russian-made missiles and their bases soon.

A White House statement indicated time may be short before the United States makes a decision on how far to go in neutralizing the missile threat.

Fully Operational

It said Friday that aerial reconnaissance had shown that as late as Thursday Russian technicians were rushing work on launch bases for 1,200-mile mobile missiles and 2,500-mile intermediate range rockets.

"The activity at these sites apparently is directed at achieving blockade situation well in hand and a full operational capability as and President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev agreed separately to avoid an immediate showdown at sea while diplomatic efforts are made to find a peaceful solution."

During most of this week of crisis, attention has been centered on the blockade, which so far has worked in preventing further flow into Cuba of more deep-striking weapons.

'U. S. Invasion of Cuba Inevitable,' Van Pelt Claims

SHERBOYGAN (AP)—Rep. William K. Van Pelt, R-Wis., said here Friday night that invasion of Cuba by United States armed forces appears inevitable.

"We have got to go in and dismantle those missile bases which the Russians have built and are building," he said in an interview.

Van Pelt was asked if he thought invasion of Cuba would mean war with Russia.

He replied:

"I don't think so because of the backing we are getting from the Organization of American States."

"Then too," he added, "Red China has invaded India and that has not set off a major war."

Cubans Fete Crewmen of Soviet Ship

HAVANA (AP)—An arriving Soviet tanker received a hero's welcome Friday from a Havana crowd echoing the Cuban theme that if the U.S. Navy sinks a Russian ship it means war.

A crowd of 400 hailed the crew of the tanker Vinnitsa as victors over "Yankee imperialism." The skipper, Capt. Robert Romanoff, was presented a Cuban flag and a portrait of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Havana radio said the Vinnitsa was hailed by U.S. naval vessels, but was allowed to pass after it was determined her cargo was petroleum.

"They said that the ships would not pass and already one has passed and all will pass which are coming to our country," proclaimed Jesus Soto, a labor leader.

Andrew Soler of Cuba's longshoremen's union lauded "the courage of the sailors who crashed the blockade."

U.N. Diplomats Relieved by Soviet Pledge to Halt Ships

Officials Concerned as Work Continues on Missile Sites

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Diplomats today welcomed the brief respite in the Cuban crisis provided by the Soviet pledge to keep Russian ships out of blockade waters for a time. But there was scant optimism as feverish talks sped on behind the U.N. scenes.

The diplomats were gravely concerned by the U.N. announcement that the Russians are continuing rapid development of their Cuban missile sites and the warning that the United States might take further action.

In a new exchange of messages with Acting Secretary-General U Thant, Premier Khrushchev agreed to keep all Russian vessels out of the interception area set up under the U.S. arms quarantine. And President Kennedy said U.S. warships would do their best to avoid a confrontation.

Short Interval

Both Kennedy and Khrushchev insisted, however, such a freeze must be limited to a short interval while Thant pushes his efforts at a peaceful settlement.

Thant released the contents of the new exchange Friday after spending the day conferring separately with delegation chiefs of the United States, the Soviet Union and Cuba.

All remained silent on progress after a day-long round of private talks with Thant. They prepared for more today.

Diplomats have lost much of optimism that swept the United Nations when word first arrived that the United States and the Soviet Union had agreed to confer with Thant on the possibility of negotiating the crisis that has raised worldwide fears of nuclear war.

Tension rose again with the White House announcement of the continuing Soviet missile buildup in Cuba.

Delegates recalled that Kennedy said in his report to the nation Monday that the United States was prepared to take action beyond the blockade if the missile installations in Cuba were not dismantled.

In his new note to Thant, Kennedy said: "I share your hope that Chairman Khrushchev will heed your appeal and that we can then proceed urgently to meet the requirements that these

Nikita's Message to Kennedy Was Different

Sinking Ships Last Resort For U.S. Navy

Blockade Runners
Would be Disabled
Before Destroyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Navy warships blockading Cuba are believed under orders to fire across a balking vessel's bow and then to disable the ship if necessary to bring it to a halt.

The ship would be sunk only as a last resort — and only after the crew and passengers were given a chance to get off.

The Navy was not talking about blockading and boarding orders and methods, but information became available from other sources.

The destroyers that challenged the Soviet tanker Bucharest Thursday and the Soviet-charter freighter Marucla Friday probably made contact by radio, blinker light or similar standard means.

Oil Tanker

The Bucharest was allowed to proceed to Cuba after Navy experts studied her hull and decided she was what she purported to be—an oil tanker.

The Marucla, flying a Lebanese flag, was boarded by a party from the destroyer Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. and the destroyer Pierce.

The boarding party was not armed, although it could have been if the U.S. ship commanders felt its members might be in danger. The size of the party was not disclosed.

A typical boarding party might include, among others, a navigation officer to examine the ship's charts and course, a radioman, a crewman familiar with ship engines and sometimes security guards.

Fatal Shooting Ruled Justifiable Homicide

RHINELANDER (AP)—An Oneida County coroner's jury ruled Friday that the fatal shooting of Ernest Martinez, 25, of Pittsburgh, Pa., by a deputy sheriff was justifiable homicide.

The deputy, Lyle Gehrike, 32, shot Martinez after Martinez grabbed patrolman Robert Empey and tried to hold him as a hostage on Oct. 20.

'Heed the Burglars'

Kennedy Sends Stern Message to Russell

LONDON (AP)—"I think your morning studying Kennedy's message and composing another round of notes, this time including Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba."

The notes to Castro and Khrushchev were friendly, to Kennedy more subdued.

He urged Castro to allow U.N. inspection, adding, "I feel great compassion for yourself and the beleaguered people of Cuba. I ask you humbly to accept the unwarranted American demands regarding so-called missiles."

"Your Friend"

To Khrushchev he wrote "Your continued forbearance is our great hope." He signed it, "Your friend Bertrand Russell."

In his cable to Kennedy, Russell said "I beg you not to invade Cuba or to risk nuclear war. Could you accept United Nations inspection of bases and offer bases in Turkey in exchange? The removal of any bases from Russian perimeter would immensely strengthen America's stand on behalf of peace and would bring comparable Soviet response."

Russell wrote the Soviet leader a four-page personal letter Friday, but declined to release its contents.

An outspoken pacifist, Russell heads the British "Committee of 100," an anti-nuclear group that organized sit-down strikes and civil disobedience drives to ban the bomb.

Political Integration Now Doomed In Africa

Lawrence Professor Discusses Myth
Of Pan-Africanism, Continental State

"Supranational political integration at this stage is doomed to failure in Africa," was the opinion of Dr. Mojmir Povolny of the Lawrence College faculty in a convocation address in Memorial Chapel.

Dr. Povolny, who recently returned from a year's research in France and Africa, took as his topic, "Africa in Search of Unity."

There are two forces working on the side of African unity, however—the politically potent myth of Pan-Africanism which has been growing since the turn of the century; and the benefits of a continental state, he reported.

He pointed to the opposition of the elite within each country, who have acquired interests within the existing territorial boundaries; and the task of constructing nations and states out of a large number of tribes.

"It is obviously impossible to create a Pan-African ideology that would have an equally unifying appeal," he said. "Moreover, the problems of development are almost unmanageable on the national scale and they would become terrifying if one tried to approach them in their continental dimensions. Multiplied poverty does not make for wealth. If Guizot told those who 130 years ago in France clamored for universal suffrage, 'Enrich yourselves,' the African leaders of today answer the call for a Pan-African kingdom: 'Africa must first enrich herself'."

One of the great problems Africa encounters in enriching herself is the competitive economic nature of the several African states for the same overseas markets and aid. Even the uniting factor of a common enemy—the colonialist—is fading from the scene.

Lower Sights

In face of these obstacles, Africans have lowered their sights for a United States of Africa and have chosen the road of functional cooperation.

"Africa has not jelled into two rigid blocs," Dr. Povolny said. "Although separated and at times in conflict, the two groups have not shut the windows through which they can look at one another and the doors through which they can speak with one another."

The major portion of the speech was devoted to a summary of the attempts at regional organization which have been made to date in Africa. They are:

The Casablanca group, 1961, made up of Ghana-Guinea-Mali along with Egypt and Morocco, which is "an association made for the exploitation of issues rather than their formulation. Its hey-day was the time of the Algerian war and the Congo crisis, and it will feed on Angola, Rhodesia, the apartheid, but it will not grow as the same as its roots remain in the same soil," Dr. Povolny noted.

The Council of Entente in 1959, in which the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Niger and the Upper Volta united "in an intergovernmental cooperative arrangement whose main function is the coordination of political objectives and economic policies—the only prototype for the recovery and rehabilitation of the traditional ties among the French-speaking African."

Defense Pact

The Afro-Malagasy Organization of Economic Cooperation in 1960, undertaken by 12 French-speaking African states, and the subsequent Afro-Malagasy Union of 1961, a structure resting on political solidarity, concerted diplomacy and a defense pact.

The Monrovia group of 1961, made up of 20 participants, which share not only a common political doctrine, but have also established a customs union, investment fund, payments union, regional banks of price stabilization, along with concerted social welfare projects, the creation of inter-African transportation and the suppression of linguistic barriers.

New Process Will Tally Phone Bills

Mechanization to Replace Operators
In Charge System

A new, mechanized process for billing long distance calls is being put into effect in Appleton and surrounding area by the Wisconsin Telephone Co., according to Manager Richard Van Sistine. This process will eventually produce just one long distance statement for all calls.

The company's Oshkosh accounting center, which processes the monthly bills for some 364,000 accounts in the state, is converting its billing operation to a mechanized system, Van Sistine explained. Part of this conversion process involves mechanizing the process of producing the long distance statement.

The Appleton operator staff, which also handles calls for Neenah, Menasha, Little Chute, Hortonville, Kaukauna and Wrights, is currently being trained in a new process, known as "mark sense." This training started last Friday and should be completed about the middle of December.

Ticket Used

Van Sistine explained that operators handling long distance calls presently write the necessary billing information on what is called a "paper ticket." These tickets are sent to the Oshkosh accounting center where they are manually rater, sorted, and billed.

Under the new "mark sense" system, operators use a special graphite pencil to simply "mark" the required information on a pre-printed card. When these cards are processed, a machine "senses" these markings and punches a hole for each mark.

In completing the process, the cards are automatically sorted by telephone number the punches in the card are "read" to compute the charges, and the long distance statement is printed.

Until all operators are trained, Van Sistine said, Appleton area customers placing calls through an operator could still receive two long distance statements, with their bills. He explained that the same operator would not necessarily handle all the calls placed by a particular customer, and during this conversion period, it will be possible to be served by an operator who has not been trained in the "mark sense" process.

All calls processed through the new system will appear on the same type of statement that reflects long distance calls dialed directly by the customer through the DDD network. All calls handled under the old method will appear on a separate statement.

Once the training is completed, only one statement will be received, and it will contain more detailed information about the calls.

Kaukauna Halloween Fun Includes Movies, Dance

KAUKAUNA — Halloween parties for younger children and high school students will be sponsored by the recreation department Oct. 31, according to James Gertz, recreation director.

Modern Woodmen of America and local businessmen are cooperating in the party for the smaller children. This party will consist of 7 p.m. movies at the Vaudeville and Rialto Theaters. "Francis and the Haunted House" will be shown at the Vaudeville and the Three Stooges in "Stop, Look and Listen," will be shown at the Rialto.

Movies are being held later this year to permit smaller children to complete neighborhood trick or treating. Gifts will be distributed together with a bag of treats. Special awards will also be made for costumes. Children will sign pledge cards for the witch wagon game which entitles youngsters to additional prizes if they return home immediately after the movie and are called by recreation personnel.

Mrs. Viola Wisthoff, area representative for Modern Woodmen of America, said, the M.W.A. is sponsoring similar costume parties in hundreds of communities in the United States as part of its program for furthering the general welfare of the youth of the nation and in conformity with its policy of contributing to local community progress.

The recreation department will sponsor a dance from 7.30 to 10 p.m. for high school students in the school gym. Students attending will receive free refreshments and gifts courtesy of the Modern Woodmen. No admission will be charged and music will be furnished by a local orchestra through the courtesy of Local 337, American Federation of Musicians. Prizes will be awarded students with best costumes.

South won the first trick with the king of diamonds and led a spade to dummy. Then he returned a heart and wondered what to play from his hand.

After much frowning and chuckling South finessed with the jack of hearts. By this time West knew what was going on, so he won with the ace of hearts to lead South a-tray.

Declarer won the diamond continuation with the ace and led another spade to dummy. He was sure East had the queen of hearts, and he wanted to finesse through it.

Unfortunately, East produced a club, and South saw that he'd been had. West was sure to get his second trump trick and South was obliged to lead clubs from his own hand down one.

South had an even chance of finding the queen of hearts in the East hand. He even had a slight extra chance, since if he lost the first trump to the queen he would still be able to reduce the club loss if East had both the king and queen.

This was not as good as playing for the clubs. In three-quarters of the cases East will have one or both of the missing club honors. South should therefore finesse in clubs rather than in trumps.

South should enter dummy with the first spade and return the jack of clubs through East. If East covers, South can win and get back to dummy to lead a trump.

If East plays a low club, South is willing to lose the finesse and try another club finesse later. Declarer can lead trumps out of his own hand, if need be.

Partner opens with one heart and the next player passes. You hold: S - Q-10-9-6, H - A - Q - 8, D - J - 10 - 9; C - Q-6-2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. The hand is too strong for a raise to two hearts, but not strong enough for a jump to three hearts; or to two notrump. Mark time with the spade response and show the heart support later.

2 Constitutional Changes

Voters Will be Asked To Act on Amendments

MADISON (AP)—In addition to the casting ballots for the candidates population of 500,000 or more, the voters will be asked to act on two proposed constitutional amendments to the Wisconsin Constitution.

The proposal will appear in the form of two questions. The first gives the executive "such administrative powers as the Legislature shall prescribe," and the second prescribes that he shall have veto power.

On the ballot, the questions will read:

"1. Shall Article IV, Section 23, be amended to authorize the Legislature to provide for the election of a chief executive officer for a four-year term in counties with a population of 500,000 or more, who shall exercise such administrative powers as the Legislature shall prescribe?"

"2. Shall Article IV, Section 23A, be created to require that in counties with a population of 500,000 or more all resolutions and ordinances of the county board must be submitted to a chief executive officer for his approval or veto?"

The proposed constitutional amendment were passed by the 1959 and 1961 legislatures and must be approved by voters before they can become effective.

Since a county executive is authorized to veto a resolution or ordinance, the amendment would allow qualified Wisconsin voters who have recently moved out of the state to vote for president and vice president.

The referendum question on the ballot would allow qualified Wisconsin voters who have recently moved out of the state to vote for president and vice president.

The referendum question is designed to allow Wisconsin residents who move out of the state to vote by absentee ballot for president and vice president in Wisconsin for up to two years.

The law, passed in 1961 but still lacking ratification, permits persons to exercise their right to vote even though they have not met residence requirements in the state to which they moved.

In 1953 Wisconsin allowed newcomers to vote in presidential elections without residence requirements and the 1961 law would extend the same privilege to persons leaving the state.

The question on the ballot will be: "Shall Chapter 512 of the laws of 1961 entitled 'an act relating to the privilege of voting for presidential electors after moving from Wisconsin' be adopted?"

A simple majority vote will decide the questions.

Your Problems

Pre-Nuptial Party for Children Eliminates Invitation to Rite

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister and I are having a double wedding in three months. We are both marrying local fellows from large families. The problem is I don't want any children at the wedding or the dinner because we can have only a limited number of guests.

My sister says our fiances will be hurt if they can't have their nieces and nephews present. She points out that they are all well behaved. I say children don't belong at an evening wedding — well behaved or not.

How do we let the parents know that children are not included in the invitation? We don't want to start off married life with our relatives sore at us. Please, Ann, instruct us on how to handle this delicate situation. — Cleveland Troubles

DEAR CLEVELAND: This is one of the touchiest of all problems and I can tell you right now you're not going to please everybody. A double wedding automatically kites the guest list by one-third. Your fiances should take this into consideration.

The best solution is to give a party for the young children a week or two before the wedding. Make it clear to the mothers that you are entertaining the small fry because you are unable to invite them to the wedding. Have games and favors, a little wedding cake and ice cream. Make it as festive as possible. This should get you off the hook nicely.

DEAR ANN: Last night I had a date with a fellow I've been dying to go out with for ages. I'm 13 and Dick is an upperclassman. We doubled with his buddy who has a car. I never cared for his buddy. He takes out girls I consider common. Also he is famous for having flunked geometry three times.

After the movie, instead of going for a hamburger, we headed for a spot called "Petter's Paradise." I told Dick I didn't like the idea but he said the driver of the car has the say.

Right away the two in the front seat started to mush it up. This must have given Dick ideas because till then he had been a perfect gentleman. I told him to take me straight home or I would get out and walk.

He got mad and told his buddy that "Miss Flat Tire of 1962" wanted to go right home. They all laughed and I felt like a fool. The next day I told my best girl friend and she claims I overdid the good behavior bit. She says one kiss wouldn't have killed me. Now I am — Confused.

DEAR CONFUSED: You did the right thing, so now forget it. High standards are a good device for screening out third-raters. If Dick never asks you out again you haven't missed anything.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would be the first to admit that the telephone is one of the greatest inventions since the wheel areas a most distracting time-killer. But it can also be most distracting and a horrible time-killer. What can I do about people who ring me up at the most inopportune moments just to pass one of the time of day? Occasionally I must allow the slightest aroma of roasting meat to permeate our house when guests are coming to dinner. I say it piques the appetite just when I'm in the bath to smell such savory odors, and cookie dough — or in the bath to smell such savory odors, and cookie dough — or rushing to get a bus.

Do you or don't you agree with me?

DEAR ANN: I agree with you. But it is better to be on the safe side by eliminating cooking odors, if possible. There are many people who object. Anticipating surprises can whet the appetite as much, and sometimes more, than knowing in advance that ham is in the oven.

DEAR SITTING: The solution I'm about to suggest demands a great deal of willpower but it can be done.

If you are in the tub, running for a bus, or not able to visit, don't answer the telephone. It's a lot easier, actually, than trying to explain to your Aunt Fanny you can't talk to her.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Soviet Lie Is Laid Bare

The United Nations, still impotent as far as enforcing or guaranteeing peace, freedom or justice around the world, nevertheless is providing a forum for the discussion of viewpoints which are in conflict. At no time has its importance in this way been better demonstrated than now during the Cuban crisis. And United States Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, at long last convinced of the intentions of the Soviet Union in this hemisphere, has successfully demonstrated to the Security Council "how far a Soviet official could go in perjury."

In directly confronting Valerian Zorin Thursday Mr. Stevenson put him on a spot from which he could not wriggle. Stevenson demanded a yes or no answer on the question as to whether Zorin would deny that Russia had supplied Cuba with military missiles. Zorin lamely read an old Soviet statement that it "had no need" to establish military bases in other countries. Stevenson snatched at the statement. Indeed the Soviet Union had no need; but the question, he said, was had they?

Zorin's refusal to answer Stevenson was concrete evidence of the Russian guilt. So, too, was Premier Khrushchev's statement that the Soviet Union would agree to a moratorium on sending in such supplies for several weeks to allow time for talks and negotiations. If the Russians agreed to stop, they obviously have been trafficking in missiles. Zorin's red-faced denunciation of the United States' claims with the usual "forged photographs" charge can easily be seen for what it is—a typical Soviet red herring.

But it should lead no one off the track any longer. The Security Council no longer needs photographic evidence. Zorin and Khrushchev have provided enough.

A Nuisance Oath Is Gone

President Kennedy has signed a bill repealing the controversial non-Communist disclaimer affidavit that has been required of students applying for federal loans and grants for educational purposes. The disclaimer had been widely protested. Some 32 leading colleges and universities in the nation had refused to participate in the aid program because of the disclaimer, and an even larger number of institutions, including the University of Wisconsin and Wisconsin State Colleges, had officially protested the disclaimer as "discriminatory against students."

The bill was a sensitive one because a vote against the disclaimer is bound to be regarded in ultra-right circles as a vote for communism. Both Houses of Congress in fact took no roll call but passed the bill by voice vote or unanimous consent.

The charges of discrimination were well founded although it can be acknowledged that opposition was of a rather righteous and prideful nature. Under the present and the old law any student applying for a federal grant or loan in the program has to sign an oath of allegiance to the United States similar to that taken by anyone entering the armed forces. But the disclaimer went further. It required a student to attest that he did not believe in, was not a member of and would not support "any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence or by any illegal or unconstitutional means." The disclaimer therefore required more of a student applying for a loan than it did of men and women serving the nation in Congress, governmental agencies, the armed forces or even the White House.

There are two provisions in the new law which Congress passed and the President signed intending to safeguard against handing out the taxpayer's money to pro-Communists. A criminal penalty of $10,000 or up to five years in prison can be asked for any person who attempts to use a federal scholarship if he is a member of a Communist organization which is required to register with the Subversive Activities Control Board. Another section provides that the Office of Education and the National Science Foundation may turn down or revoke a grant if they feel it is in "the best interests of the United States."

Already there have been mutterings against these provisions. But they would seem to be sensible. There is no requirement here for a student to feel he is signing a "I will not beat my wife" affidavit. There is a protection for the government which certainly would be acting against the wishes of the great majority if it handed out money to pro-Communists. If the "best interests of the United States" statement is vague and seems to cover a lot of territory perhaps it ought to. If the provision is abused we are sure there will be an outcry and uproar from the students involved, the colleges, the American Civil Liberties Union and every organization of college teachers.

Trees for Better Living

Americans may not realize all the blessings that come from trees. Except for the air we breathe, the water we drink and the soil in which we grow our food, no gift of nature is so dear to modern civilization as trees and the products that come from them.

Unlike minerals and other exhaustible natural resources, trees grow and replace themselves, and under this mandate of nature we have an everlasting source of thousands of useful products which enrich our daily lives.

If all the wood used to make these useful products in a single year were transformed into a solid block of wood, it would cover a city block and reach 463 miles into the air. Still, we are growing wood faster than we are using it.

What are these useful products that no American would want to yield up? Let's mention only a few. Tissues for the bathroom, crossties for the nation's railroads, lumber in all its forms for new homes, acetate for films, newsprint for newspapers, paper for magazines and books.

Science and research are making the tree still more important to our national security and to our standard of living. From the tree come chemicals that already are mushrooming into a new silvichemical industry. Portentous indeed is the outlook for lignin—the ingredient that binds the fibers of a living tree—although too little is yet known of this magical substance.

Yes, trees and the products from them are a way of life in America—in the world itself.

The useful products from trees give us an affluence we could never achieve from any other resource, important though they may be.

And to add a bit of frosting to the cake, the forests in which our trees grow, when properly managed, yield many other benefits—fishing, hunting, picnicking, water for homes and industry, wildlife and conservation of the soil.

There is little wonder that the tree, when used wisely, is one of nature's greatest gifts to man.

Watches Reporter at Work, Objects to His Questions

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I'd like to dedicate this letter to one of the reporters on your staff. This individual man is unknown to me, but he will recognize himself after he reads this letter.

From reliable sources I have learned one specific gentleman questioned Mrs. Ott who helps run her hubby's business known as "Red's Cafe" in Kimberly about our teenagers. You (Mr. Reporter who ever you are) wanted to know if it was true that so-called gangs from in and out of town come into Red's breaking pop bottles and really raising a riot. Well, Mr. Reporter, I'd like to tell you all about Red's as I and the rest of us teenagers think about it.

Red's is run by Mr. and Mrs. Renae Ott. They have set certain rules and regulations which we must follow or we'll be restrained from entering Red's for a certain period of time. Red and Betty do this not to gain enemies but to let these youths who engage in loud talk and rough acts know Red's isn't an arena for boxing, etc. To we high school students (as well as those of an older age group) we think of Red's Cafe as a clean, responsible restaurant. We are given a specific time, in this case it is from seven to nine o'clock, in which we are allowed to come in and we're satisfied. They allow no dancing, loud talk and positively no physical fighting. To me Red's is a wonderful place, it has its ups and downs in business but Red and Betty don't let it show. They're always friendly and cheerful.

Getting back to the idea of Red's being a hang out. If you want to consider it a hang out from seven p.m. to nine p.m. I suppose you'd be justified. But what can you expect when a lot of teenagers (12 at the most) on a week night go into any restaurant. When we go into Red's we order the usual: chips and pop, claim a booth and just sit and rehash the happenings of the day.

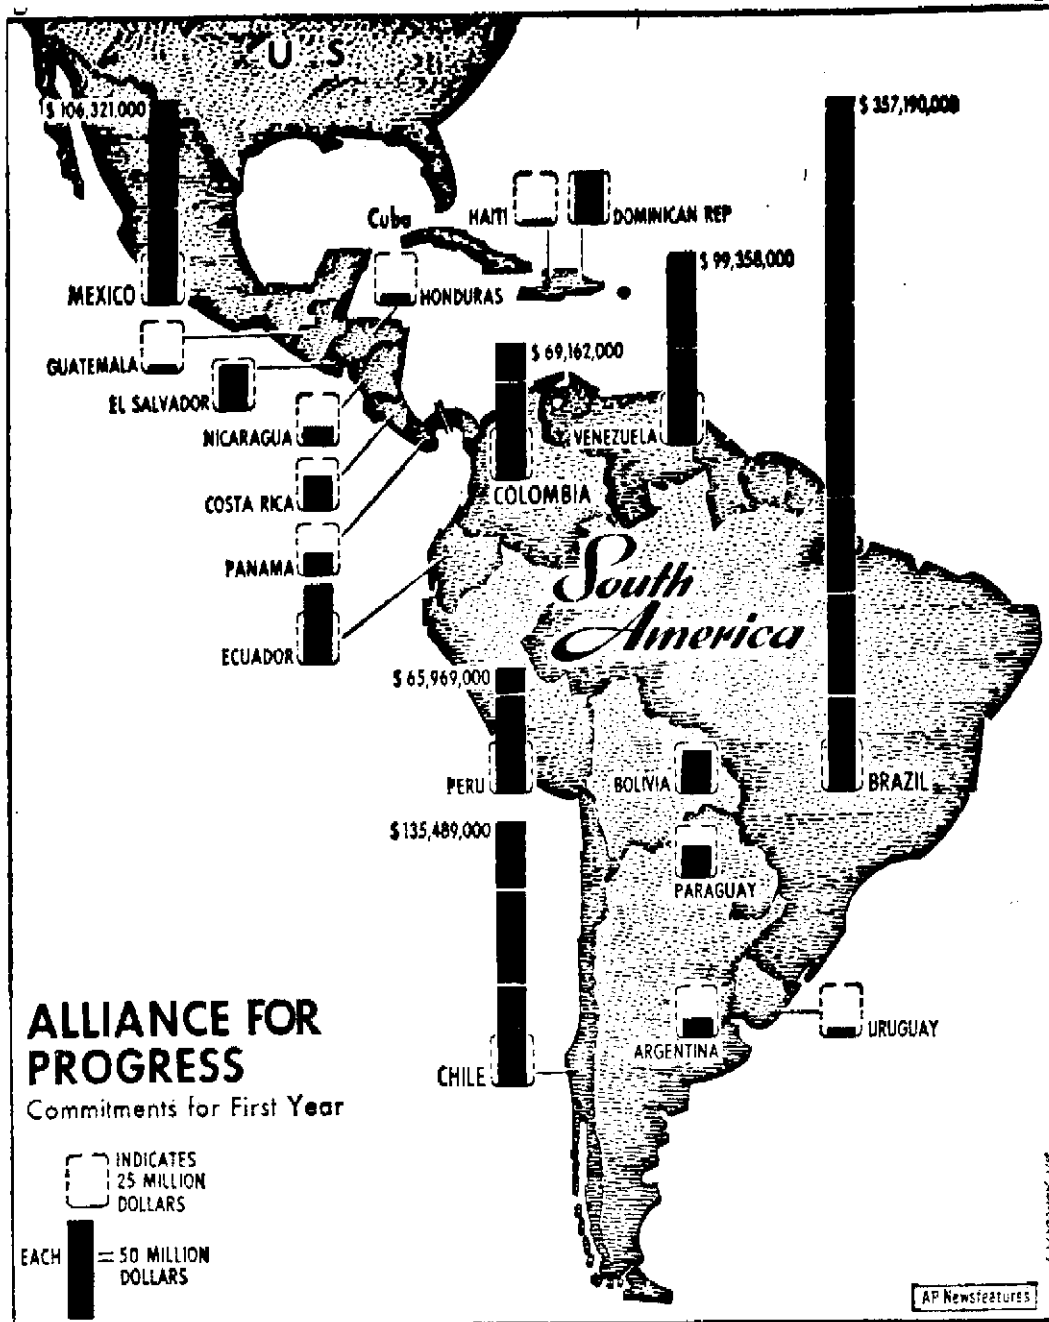

If those of you at the Appleton Post-Crescent who think of Red's as the meeting place for a lot of hoods from in and out of town your badly mistaken. If you were to get to know Red and Betty Ott, you'd know and understand how we teenagers feel about them and the restaurant they are running. They're both young people who understand us. It gives us a lot of conciliation just to talk to them. Like I said earlier, before you or anyone else tries to judge Red's, go in and see for yourself, see what you, Mr. Reporter, call a hang out. We know you'll like Red's and accept it for what it is, a cafe, not a hang out or place where any acts of vandalism may occur.

P.S. I think you, Mr. Reporter, owe we teenagers an apology as well as Mr. and Mrs. Ott for having the nerve to call Red's a hangout.

Alliance for Progress Not Doing Enough, All Agree

BY BEN F. MEYER
WASHINGTON (AP)—There's one very unusual thing about the Alliance for Progress: Everybody admits it is not doing nearly enough.

This goes for what the Latin American nations are doing—or not doing—to help speed the big program aimed at their economic and social development and it goes also for the U.S. government, which is bearing the lion's share of the cost of the plan.

Rep. Otto E. Passman, a Congressman noted for his caustic comments about the way this country handles its foreign operations, declared recently: "The Alliance program is not progressing as we had hoped it would."

Passman, a Louisiana Democrat in charge of House appropriations for foreign operations, seemed to be questioning chiefly whether the Latin American nations are doing what they can to help themselves.

LAND IN HANDS OF FEW

One thing which many economists blame for Latin America's slow economic and social progress is the fact that in many countries, the best lands and the largest tracts have been owned by a few people. This has been blamed for inefficient production, as well as for lack of civic advancement presumed to come with ownership of lands by a great many people.

Another charge has been that Latin Americans generally, and particularly the rich, pay little or no taxes, either on lands, or on earnings from other sources.

It is not unusual that the rich, and the big land owners, either run governments in some countries, or have a powerful voice in how they are run. Justly or otherwise, they have been blamed for blocking, or watering down land and tax reforms, as well as social changes contemplated by the Alliance.

Teodoro Moscoso is a Puerto Rican who directed the famous "Operation Bootstrap" which has helped to boost living standards and economic progress in Puerto Rico. He is the boss of the U.S. Alliance for Progress agency.

Both in this country and elsewhere, he says, the Alliance "has NOT yet had a chance."

It will be two or three years hence, he told a congressional committee with great candor, before a hard look can be taken and a decision made whether the alliance has been, as he puts it, "successful or otherwise."

The United States promised to commit one billion dollars in the first year of the Alliance. "We fulfilled our commitment," says Moscoso. The total in commitment was $1,029,576,000. The division by country is shown on the accompanying illustration.

CONTINUE AT LIVELY PACE

The United States commitments continue at a lively pace. For July and August of this year, for example, they totaled $154.3 million, including $88.6 million in grants, $67.7 million in loans.

The U. S. Alliance for Progress agency is a part of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

The whole business is under State Department supervision, and has its U. S. offices in the department.

For many months, the U.S. Alliance agency had all the appearance of chaos. The whole AID organization was undergoing reorganization and it seemed to affect particularly the Alliance agency. Just when it seemed to be settling down to more or less normal business, a recommendation in the State Department for integration of department and Alliance officials brought moving days again for everybody. This produced another few weeks of chaos.

Meanwhile, commitments did not mean that projects were getting under way. Alliance officials say that progress is being made now, but that political and other problems have delayed things in many countries.

Draft Quotas Set for Outagamie

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 30, 1862.

By General Order No. 34 from the Adjutant General's Office at Madison, the following quotas are assigned to towns in this "Outagamie" county:

Burhanan 9, Centre, 18, Ellington 7, Freedom 12, Greenville 33, Kaukauna 12, Maple Creek 4 and Osborn 4 for a total of 99.

This shows that Appleton, Bovina, Dale, Grand Chute and the others have already raised their full quota by volunteering. The other towns can do as well if they make half an effort.

There is still a chance. At any rate, it is not possible that any one in Outagamie can be so foolish and wicked as to compel the Government to shoot him down like any dog!

Applications for exemption from the draft on account of alienage must now be made with the State Department at Washington.

Chaplain Lt. Roger C. McClone, U.S. Navy, was in Appleton on leave from the naval training center at San Diego. Father McClone entered the Navy Chaplain's School at Newport, R.I., the previous November and was assigned to the California center in February.

The Village Players of Winneconne were rehearsing for the play, "Dangerous Nan McGrew," Illa Mae Zimmerman was playing the lead role. Other members of the cast included William and Marjorie Krings, Margaret Kronitz, Orville Hinz, Harold Tegelman Jr., Vera Plummer, Delores Stutzman, Harold Kietz and Wayne Schweide.

Members of the Appleton League of Women Voters were demonstrating the new voting machines to be used in the city's November elections. The project was coordinated by Mrs. M. M. Sealls Jr., voters service chairman of the League.

Officers of the Waupaca Curling Club that year included Dr. A. H. Chandler, president, Ray Raymond, vice president, John Hansen, treasurer, Thomas Holby, secretary, and Harold Dushack, Ray Pinkerton and Ollie Stratton, directors.

Third Candidate for Governor Might Upset Results in California

BY ERIC SEVAREID
LOS ANGELES — California is not a state of mind, as alleged; it is at least three states of mind. It is a personality split three ways like a rapidly rising investment in men, which it also is.

There is the California of the pure intellect, working at the highest growing points of modern thought, trying to master the Age of Overkill and represented by the best laboratories in the world, the world's greatest concentration of Nobel Prize winners, and by some of the most effective continuing seminars in the humanitarian studies this country knows.

FROWN ON OTHERS

And there is the California of the retired Iowa farmer and small town banker with his half-moon eyeglasses and string tie, of the white Baptist church, the mission society, of front porch anti-communism, anti-racism, anti-alcoholism, and anti-zodlessness. This third California frowns with extreme distaste upon the California of the first part, and looks with wonder and fear at the California of the second part, so busy taking apart the complicated universe which God put together in exactly six days of twenty-four hours each.

This third California also regards standard California politics, with its Nixons and its Browns, as hopelessly impure, and so it has put forward a third candidate for governor, a tall young man the rest of the country has not heard about, but a young man who just might decide this election and subsequent national events by pulling in enough extreme right Republican votes to guarantee the defeat of Richard M. Nixon.

Thirty-five year old Robert L. Wyckoff, who practices medicine, law — and now oratory — could win a quarter million votes, and in a condition where Democratic registration is far higher than Republican registration, that just might put period to the career of Mr. Nixon, now in his seventh crisis.

Trailing a ton of electronic clutter for the purposes of a CBS Report, we descended on the candidate of the Prohibition Party (now undergoing a name change to the American Party because it will settle for state liquor stores and charging the beverage industry with the cost of treating alcoholics, which sounds like a fair idea) in one of those curving canyon streets of endless, modest ranch style houses with their built-in garages, built-in kitchens and total, built-in uniformity.

DOCTORATE IN LAW

It was no surprise to find that Mr. Wyckoff is not a very smart man; but there is a difference between smartness and intelligence and it was a surprise to find him a very intelligent man. He is currently pursuing a doctorate in medical law at Yale, between dosing patients and trotting around to neighborhood schools and church meetings with his "campaign manager." He must have been born grave of mien and mind; he looks at one with the steady, but slightly shy and soulful gaze of the reformer who has seen the light, and the old-fashioned courtliness of his manner was a positive refreshment in this era and region of sloppy, cocky youth. You can't help but like him and you can't help but admire his total integrity, slightly suffocating as it is.

It is pretty hard to make fun of an earnest, unworly man who believes that only morality and applied Christianity will save his state, nation and world — who's to say him nay? The night before my visit one of the scornful wisecracks who command large audiences as "commentators" in the Disneyland of Los Angeles television had made merciless public fun of Dr. Wyckoff in an interview. "Oh dear, but it was humiliating," said the candidate, "I just copped out of there like a whipped dog." But Californians like other Americans, quickly sense the presence of a decent man, and it was the wisecrack who was tongue-whipped by hundreds of indignant phone calls. The rating of the commentator must have gone down, that of the candidate, up.

Dr. Wyckoff wrung his hands over the clutter of papers on the table in his dining room. "I have to do all my own research," he said, "and it's so terribly time consuming." He has an idea that taxes could be controlled or reduced by a $50 per semester increase in university and junior college tuition, now ridiculously low by most standards. He has an idea much of the state bureaucracy dealing with welfare could be eliminated by a private unemployment insurance plan whereby by one day's pay is withheld each of the first twenty weeks of a person's employment, to be handed over when and if he loses his job, and state aid to be given him only when that fund is exhausted. Offhand, I couldn't see what was so terribly wrong with either idea.

I asked if he thought he would win the election. He hesitated, blushed and said, "I don't want to mislead you, but they tell me a candidate must appear confident at all times. So yes, I will win."

Zoning, Subdivision Laws Essential to Good Land Use

Regional Planners Seek Similar Rules for Entire Fox Cities Area

BY REINY WESSING
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Special reports containing a highly refined zoning law and a subdivision control ordinance are considered two of the most important works completed by Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates, consultant to the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The two are closely related and essential to other proposals, such as the regional expressway system. That is the belief of Fox Cities government and civic leaders who were asked by the Post-Crescent to review the proposals.

Three persons have been found guilty of drunken driving charges. Genevieve Boese, 47, 1347 Waukegan Ave., Oshkosh, pleaded guilty Friday of drunken driving and was fined $100 by Winnebago County Judge James V. Sitter.

She was arrested by county police Thursday on State 175 after her car hit three guard posts and went in the ditch.

Wiley Defends Remaining in Washington

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., has charged that Gov. Gaylord Nelson has put "his own political ambitions before the welfare of the country."

Wiley seeks a fifth consecutive term in the U.S. Senate. He will be opposed in the Nov. 6 election by Nelson, the Democratic Party nominee.

In a statement issued at his office in Washington late Friday, Wiley said that he was "deeply shocked" that Nelson "would second guess the actions of the President of the United States and minimize the responsibilities and duties of the elected legislators of this country."

Nelson said at a Milwaukee news conference Friday that if Wiley, who was summoned back to Washington by President Kennedy last Monday, along with other key congressmen, "remains in Washington, it is because he does not wish to be back here talking about issues."

Wiley said he had been asked to remain in Washington to attend meetings and consultations of which "many are of a confidential and critical nature and should not be used as a political football."

Wiley is the ranking Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"My opponent wants me to come back to Wisconsin to talk about the issues," Wiley said. "I say to him again, and to every one in the state, that the only real issue in this campaign is that of peace or war."

"It is difficult to believe that he (Nelson) would put his own political ambitions above the welfare and security of our nation."

missiles, bombers and other offensive weapons.

But looming in the background has been the other prong of Kennedy's objective—to secure the eventual withdrawal of the offensive weapons already on the island.

Twice this week, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara directed newsmen's attention to Kennedy's broadcast statement Monday that: "should these offensive military preparations continue, thus increasing the threat to the hemisphere, further action will be justified. I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventualities; and I trust that, in the interest of both the Cuban people and the Soviet technicians at these sites, the hazards to all concerned of continuing this threat will be recognized."

And Friday State Department spokesman Lincoln White called newsmen's attention to the same portion of Kennedy's statement.

Behind a screen of almost wartime secrecy, the armed services have been preparing for eventualities, as the President ordered.

The Air Force has been beefing up its fast jet fighter and fighter-bomber force in Florida.

Close Range

The Navy has much of its powerful Atlantic fleet at sea—with carriers believed in relatively close striking range of Cuba.

Thousands of Marines were afloat with the Atlantic fleet, their assault boats and helicopters close by.

There were signs of Army preparations, reportedly centering around airborne units and tank elements.

If a strike comes, it appeared likely that jet planes from U.S. carriers and land bases would lead the attack by hitting with bombs and guided missiles at the Cuban missile sites and air bases.

Because of unimpeded and constant aerial reconnaissance with the finest of cameras, the U.S. command knows just where every launcher for more than 30 ballistic missiles can be found—and smashed.

U.S. forces also have a fix on Cuban air and naval bases and troop centers.

Soviets Protest At U. S. Embassy

MOSCOW, A — A big demonstration was staged today in front of the U.S. embassy protesting the Cuban blockade, and a band of youngsters plastered the front of the building with red, green and purple ink.

A number of windows were broken by ink bottles hurled by the younger participants in the demonstration.

Around 300 police swarmed around the embassy and trucks carrying about a hundred soldiers were parked on a side street not far from the building, apparently to reinforce the police if necessary.

to include "no prohibited materials."

Thus the first move to board a Communist supply ship in the Caribbean quarantine zone went off peacefully. The day before a Soviet tanker was allowed to continue to Cuba without being boarded after the Navy reported it was carrying petroleum, which is not on the prohibited list.

At the State Department, an American businessman who talked to Khrushchev two days ago conferred with Undersecretary of State George McGhee.

The business man, William E. Knox, president of Westinghouse International Electric, told newsmen later that Khrushchev was still considering coming to the United States before the end of the year, "but I do not know what he will decide."

On the contrary the Soviets are rapidly continuing their construction of missile support and launch facilities and serious attempts are under way to camouflage their efforts.

Tension focusing on the blockade abated Friday night, U. Thant, acting secretary-general of the United Nations, disclosed that Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev had agreed to avoid at least for a while a showdown between the U.S. Navy and Cuban-bound Russian ships.

The agreement was reached in an exchange of messages.

Message Not Clear

However, Khrushchev's message did not deal with the base problem. He simply announced he had ordered Soviet vessels temporarily to stay away from the interception zone established by the U.S. Navy blockade force.

Kennedy, in telling Thant he would do everything possible to avoid a direct U.S.-Soviet confrontation on the blockade front, took occasion also to emphasize the missile base issue.

"I must point out to you," he told Thant, "that present work on these systems is still continuing."

Early Friday, the 7,268-ton freighter Marucla, flying the Lebanese flag under charter to the Soviet government, was halted far from the building, apparently to reinforce the police if necessary.

Red Gunfire at Berlin Border

BERLIN (AP) — Red gunfire sounded again on the Berlin border today as East Germans escaped through the barricades.

The shooting began late Friday night. East German border guards turned their Tommy guns on two men crawling through a cemetery at Bernauer Strasse, on the French sector border. The men reached safety unhurt.

Police said there was more shooting just before dawn on the northern border of the city. Five men and one woman dodged 20 to 30 shots and forced their way through a triple barbed wire fence. Nobody was hit.

tioning trucks, official sources said.

Although no figures have been released, casualties are known to be heavy. The Chinese are said to be taking no prisoners.

The Chinese appeared to be driving at least for control of the entire 51,000 square miles of the Himalayan borderlands that they have been disputing with India for five years.

Before the offensive began a pact of Justice lawyer from week ago, the Chinese already controlled 12,000 square miles in Ladakh at the northwest end of the border. They appear now to have captured most of the remaining area they had claimed there and that front has become relatively quiet.

The Chinese drove ahead also in the northeast, where they claim 32,500 square miles. Unofficial estimates are that they captured 500 square miles in the northeast during the past week, mostly around the important monastery town of Towang, captured Wednesday.

Two battalions of Indian troops were rushed up in an attempt to stem a Chinese force knifing southward on a jeep track leading from Towang to the plains of Assam. It was this thrust that had high officials worried that the Chinese might expand the border war into deep invasion of India.

Nehru told Delhi University students that Red Chinese forces in captive Tibet alone "perhaps are larger than the whole Indian army," which is said to be between 500,000 and 600,000 strong.

Nehru has said the Chinese threw 30,000 of their troops into the fighting on the northeast front from Tibet.

New York Times said today. The Times' story quoted Gilbert, in a telephone interview from Rio de Janeiro, as saying he would leave by plane Sunday night.

The newspaper said Gilbert's plans were confirmed by his attorney, Arnold Bauman Bauman, who has made several trips to New York on Monday. The Airport along with U.S. marshals.

Hoffa Makes Tour During Trial Recess

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Teamster boss James R. Hoffa was off on a flying tour of key locals today while his lawyers labored over his defense in a $1 million conspiracy trial.

The government calls its first witness Monday. The entire first week of the federal court trial was spent on a struggle over seating a jury, arguing motions and making opening statements.

Dist. Judge William E. Miller overruled a motion for postponement have been disputing with India for five years.

In opening, Charles Shaffer, a D. C. lawyer, told the jury Hoffa violated the Taft-Hartley Act by using his union influence to obstruct the federal case.

The defense said the federal case was based only on suspicion, innuendo and innuendo.

Messages to U Thant Back Efforts on Cuba

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Acting Secretary-General U Thant has received more than 600 communications from the public in the past two days, mostly backing his efforts to ease the Cuban crisis by negotiations.

U. N. sources said a substantial majority of the messages came from inside the United States, but that there also were cables from many other countries, including Germany and the Soviet Union.

played across from Moore and Jess Whittenton was opposite Berry last year. Whittenton will look at Berry again but Adderley is now in Gremminger's old corner spot and Hank is now back at safety.

A Lot of Pursuit
"There's not too much you can do about actually stopping that kind of pass. The pass itself won't beat you but the problem is keeping him (Moore) from getting away after the pass is caught," Gremminger pointed out, adding:

"It's one on one and there must be a lot of pursuit."
Adderley thinks Moore is "The most dangerous receiver in the league. He can slant in and out, hitch—he's quick and his timing is perfect. I think he's more dangerous on short passes because he's such a good runner."
Herb reminded that "Orr is a good receiver, too, and about the only thing I can do is give 100 per cent."

Down the Barrel
Adderley and Gremminger apparently have been looking down the barrel of a lot of passes, but they've responded nicely—with 10 interceptions for a total return of 199 yards and one TD. Adderley stole five and returned 'em 111 yards and the touch while Hank returned his five for 88.

Willie Wood and Whittenton, who play the right side, have seven—six by Wood.
The Colts have made considerable use of the pass thus far, and they'll probably do same vs. Green Bay—unless Unitas is getting some mileage out of Joe Perry, Tom Matte, Alex Hawkins and Mark Smolinski. Matte and Perry are the 1-2 rushers.

The Packers practiced in City stadium Friday morning and escaped the wind.

The practice fields (just south of the arena) are rough when the wind is blowing. "We're right out in the open," Lombardi says. It was murder there Thursday—with the cold wind and snow.

Eighteen players stayed out after goal kicking, with Jim Ringo centering and Bart Starr holding. The others passed the ball around. Willie Wood tried his kicking off, and some of the others just did a little running.

Since Hornung was hurt late in the first period of the Viking game, J. Kramer has booted 3 out of 4 field goal tries and the only miss was blocked. Hornung hit on 6 of 9 attempts.

Dick Bielski, the former Eagle and Brown, is doing most of the Colts' field goal kicking.

World Basketball Tourney Will Probably be Cancelled

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine Basketball Federation will permit the event to go on.

The Philippine officials received a radiogram from William Jones, the federation's secretary general, saying that unless Yugoslavia players receive visas the championships, scheduled for Dec. 1-15, will be canceled.

The Philippine government banned Yugoslavia, as well as Russia, on security grounds and reaffirmed that ruling after an appeal for reconsideration.

The barring of Russia was academic, however, since the Soviet had withdrawn earlier in protest against Nationalist China's participation.

Jones' message also said it is possible that the Philippines will be excluded from the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. He said he had discussed the problem with Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee.

Newspapers here, reporting the Jones message, stated flatly that the tournament has been canceled.

Federation headquarters in Munich denied that recognition has been withdrawn from the championships and said no decision is expected before Nov. 10.

Ann Hovevar's 559 Pin Set Leads League

Ann Hovevar belted a 204 game and a 559 set to top honors in the Women's Classic Bowling League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday night. Marion Horn was the runner-up with a 202 and a 547.

Marc's Big Boy is the top team, with a 16-5 record.

Rita Mikkelsen's 505, Ev Steinacher's 198 and Mary Lietz' 196 and 522 were the only other honor counts.

BABA Will Meet Monday to Plan For 1962-3 Season

Directors of the 14 teams in the Badger Amateur Basketball Association will meet at the Marion City Hall Monday night to formulate plans for the 17th season of play.

Last year the league operated with 13 teams in the three divisions, northern, southern and central. Teams included Hortonville, Shiocton, Manawa, Marion and New London of the central division; Neenah Hewitt, Menasha St. John, Reliance Printer of Green Bay and Kimberly of the southern division; and Birnamwood, Bonduel, Reservation and Gresham of the northern division.

New applications have been received from Plover of the Central division and Oshkosh of the southern. Any other teams interested in gaining membership are invited to the session.

Powers called a technical which Jerry West made and when Lane refused to leave the bench, Powers awarded West another free shot. Lane finally left when Powers threatened to call a third technical.

These basketball referees are more thin-skinned than baseball umpires," said Lane. "You can't say anything to these guys, they have rabbit ears, they hear everything."

The Ramblers won the first game 15-10, but Fremont came back to capture the next two games, 15-7 and 15-10.

The Appleton Y's Men defeated K-C Main Office three times, and the Marathon Rams lost to Mary and Larry's, 10-15, before winning, 15-10 and 15-13.

returned it to the Bulldog 13. Kroner went to the 2 on a keeper and then sneaked into the end zone to score. A pass for the point was incomplete and the Papermakers had a 19-0 advantage.

Wittman Scores

After a short New London punt, the Papermakers got another scoring drive underway. Art Wittman reeled off a 21-yard scamper to the end zone which was called back but the Papermakers drove downfield again and Wittman capped it by going over from the 2.

He also ran the point over. New London scored its first touchdown when Terry Doerschner, a speed merchant who did a lion's share of the Bulldog ground, gained, counted on a 24-yard scamper. A run for the point was stopped.

Late in the final quarter the Bulldogs marched downfield and end Phil Wilson took an 8-yard end pass for the score. Recovery of a Kimberly fumble had set the stage for the drive. The point try failed.

Frank Lane Fined $250 for Conduct On Zephyr Bench

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago Zephyrs of the National Basketball Association, was fined $250 Friday by league President Maurice Podoloff for "unsportsmanlike" conduct during last Wednesday's game with the Los Angeles Lakers.

Podoloff said Lane spent most of the game complaining to the officials.

"Any renitition," he said, "will call for dire consequences." Lane was responsible for Los Angeles' last two points in the 118-107 victory. Sitting on the Chicago bench, Lane called Referee Richie Powers several names which Powers considered unflattering.

Shiocton stands between Wrightstown and the Little Nine Conference football championship today.

The Tigers whipped Denmark, 27-0, Friday while second place Hilbert was completing its regular schedule with a 19-4 triumph over Hortonville. Wrightstown is now 5-0-2 and Hilbert is 6-1-1.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Tigers counted twice in the second period against the Vikings. The first came on a 5-play, 71-yard drive, highlighted by a 58-yard run by Ken Vandehy. John Lamers pounded the last three yards and Bill Kussow ran for the extra point.

The second and third touchdowns were set up by alert defensive play. Chuck Davis blocked a Denmark punt and Darrell Tetzlaff recovered on the Dane 2-yard line. Dale Schmidt scored on the next play and Bob Gerend added the extra point. Davis recovered a third-period Viking fumble on the Denmark 39 yard line. Five plays later Gerend scooted 21 yards for the score and then ran the extra point.

Gains 122 Yards

Gerend, who gained 122 yards in 17 attempts, bristled on a 64-yard fourth period run which set up the final Tiger score. The touchdown came on a 10 yard pass from Schmidt to Lamers.

The Tigers dominated the statistics. They led in total yards, 271 to 75 and in first downs 18-8. Hilbert led all the way in its

Dayton Posts 13-12 Win Over Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—"They played run to pass—so we ran," John Idzik, a coach without a victory, wore a shellshocked expression as he explained the dilemma of Detroit in its 13-12 loss to Dayton Friday night.

Idzik sent a team with the second most productive passing attack in the nation out against another winless team. He had the Hietpas. The drive ended when No. 4 passer in the country—Jerry Gross—to pitch against a next aerial on the five and ran the ball back 30 yards.

And he lost again—for the fifth straight time in his first season—as the Titans' head coach.

Passes 15 Times
Gross, Detroit's lone real threat, passed only 15 times—half his normal amount. The Titans stuck primarily to the ground, forced there by Dayton's defense.

Tom LeBeau, a junior from Monroe, was Dayton's upset hero. LeBeau passed 37 yards for Dayton's second touchdown in the fourth quarter that overcame Detroit's 12-6 lead. He ran 26 yards to get Dayton's first touchdown drive under way. And he was stout on pass defense.

While Gross connected on seven of his 15 passes for 74 yards, LeBeau hit on four of his five for 72 yards. Gross did the bulk of Detroit's running, gaining 98 yards. LeBeau was Dayton's top runner with 56 yards.

defensive battle but never by much. They scored twice after intercepted passes were run back deep into Hortonville territory and once on a 20 yard play. There were only five first downs in the game, four by Hilbert.

The first Hilbert score came in the opening quarter when Larry Pruess intercepted on the Hortonville 35 and ran it back to the 11. Pruess skirted left end on the next play for the score. Gary Boreman kicked the extra point.

A 39-yard spurt off left tackle by Bob Billele put the Polar Bears on the scoreboard in the second period. The half ended with Hilbert ahead 7-6.

The winners scored once in each of the last two periods. Lyle Roehrig intercepted and returned to the Hortonville seven. His brother, Dennis Roehrig, scored from the five. Dennis scored again in the fourth period on a 20 yard run which climaxed a 64 yard drive.

Bob Loppnow's 77 yard runback of the second half kickoff broke open a 60 game and sent Reedsville on the way to their 37-12 win over Shiocton. Roger Natzke scored twice on short drives, Wayne Kasten from the four and Natzke passed to Ed Schuh for a 27 yard TD play. Bob Stelzer's 17 yard payoff run was the only first half score.

Shiocton scored both of its touchdowns on passes from T. Johnson to Gene Conradt. The first covered 20 yards and the second was a 15 yard play.

Despite the eight touchdowns, there was only one extra point. That was made by Reedsville's African exchange student, Alfred Okello, on a kick from placement.

the ball after the kickoff and Woehler punted out of bounds on the Oshkosh 27.

Steinhilber lost a yard trying to run and then connected with lanky Roger Beck for a 74-yard scoring play. Beck took the pass on the Appleton 40 and out-logged Jim Bertschy to the end zone.

Working against the clock after the next kickoff, Woehler hit on the only two Appleton completions of the night, 19 yards to Ron Rieck and three yards to Gary Hietpas. The drive ended when Steinhilber picked off Woehler's next aerial on the five and ran it back 30 yards.

Intercepts Pass
Late in the third quarter, "Chip" Taggart intercepted a Steinhilber pass on the AHS 30 and returned four yards. The Terrors put together their best drive of the night but it ended with Jerry Bishop's fourth down fumble on the Indians' 4.

Bill Karrow provided most of the punch, powering through the Oshkosh line for 38 yards on three the ball in the second half. Appleton was unable to move the ball after the opening kickoff and Woehler punted dead on the Oshkosh 41.

Kopitz picked up a first down on the Appleton 42. After two more running plays gained only two yards, Steinhilber caught the AHS defensive secondary napping, hitting Paffenroth over the middle with a short pass. The speedy halfback scored untouched.

Lowest Rushing Total
The fact that Oshkosh was held to its lowest rushing yardage of the year, 180 yards, is a tribute to the Appleton defensive line of Tim Kranzsch, Tom Karrow, Wayne Krake and Rick Martinek which refused to budge. Hietpas also played an outstanding defensive game.

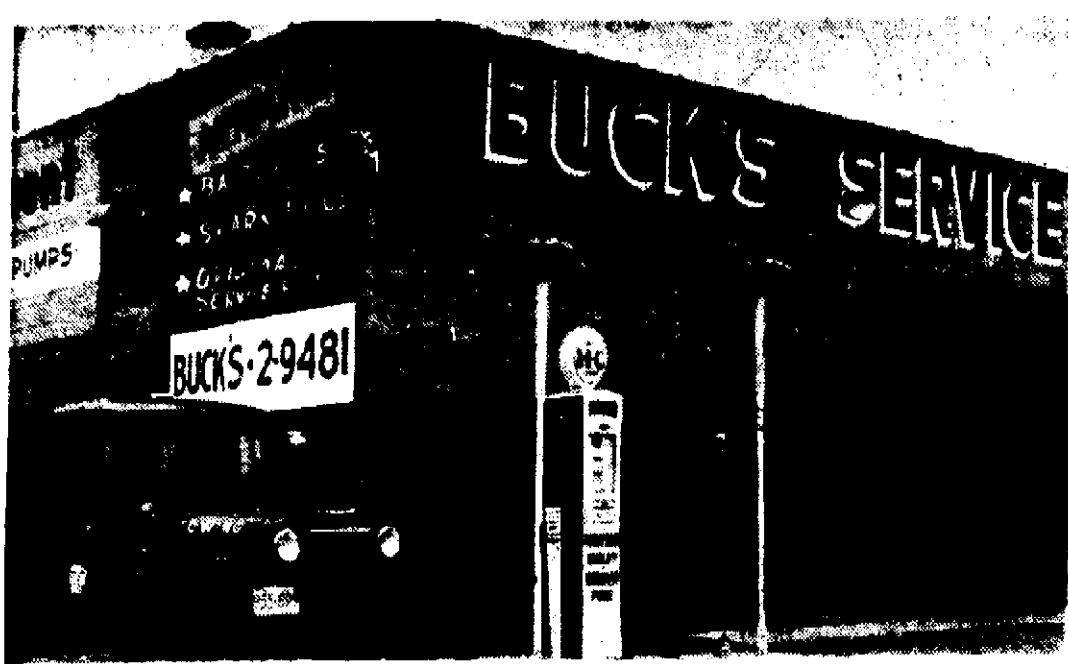

The outstanding run of the game was nullified in the first quarter because of a penalty. Bowers took Gary Luft's punt on the Appleton 45 and angled toward the east side line. An excellent block on the Oshkosh 35 by Tom Callaway permitted Bowers to move down to the 10. But the run was all for naught as an Appleton player was detected holding on the Oshkosh 33.

The only sustained drive Oshkosh put together was in the last four minutes of the game when the Indians had the ball for 13 plays and ran up three first downs to kill the clock.

Gorton's Introduces New Freezing Process

A revolutionary new process that makes it possible to put sea-fresh fish on the family table anywhere was announced by Gorton's of Gloucester, Inc. The company, which first gained renown during the Victorian era by introducing boneless codfish to the world, unveiled its new and exclusive Fresh-Lock Process to press gatherings recently. "The Fresh-Lock Process is the solution to a problem that had puzzled Government and industry research technologists the world over for nearly fifty years," Paul M. Jacobs, executive vice president of Gorton's of Gloucester, Inc., declared. "All the qualities of flavor, texture, color and nutrition found in sea-fresh fish and seafood are retained by the Fresh-Lock Process of freezing." Mr. Jacobs added, "This happy result has been obtained by employing only com-

west, the comparison had to be between frozen brands. "In the Boston area, where fresh food is the rule, 88 per cent of the consumers interviewed expressed favorable opinions of Gorton's Fresh-Lock Process fish. They said it looked, felt and tasted like fresh fish and most housewives declared they were unable to tell which was the sea-fresh fish and which was Gorton's Fresh-Lock." Dr. Samuel A. Goldblith, director of the Food Science and Technology Department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, explained the scientific tests. "Unfrozen raw fresh fish has a firm gelatinous consistency and when squeezed gives off no liquid," he said. "This is because raw fresh fish is firm and moist, not spongy and wet. Fish frozen by conventional processes gives off a considerable amount of liquid while thawing and when squeezed. This is known as 'drip loss' and contains important quantities of proteins, amino acids and other nutrients. Fish frozen by the Fresh-Lock Process, on the other hand, loses virtually no liquid." "Drip loss," Dr. Goldblith said, "runs up to 20 per cent of the weight of the fish and is generally thrown away." He performed an experiment to show that the nutritious elements lost in 'drip loss' were equivalent to the nutrient found in the white of an egg. Earl P. McFee, director of the Gorton's of Gloucester, Inc. laboratory and co-developer of the Fresh-Lock Process, quoted from Government reports declaring that the elements found in 'drip loss' were those very things that give the "characteristically 'fresh-from-the-sea' flavor to seafoods." Laboratory tests, he said, showed that fish frozen by conventional processes lost from two to three times more in total weight and three to four times the protein component than fish frozen by the Fresh-Lock Process. "This," Mr. McFee pointed

The competition is open to grade school boys between the ages of 7 and 11, and they will compete only with boys in their own age group.

Registration is being held at Neenah-Menasha Motors, 104 Clybourne St., Neenah. Registration for the contest will close Oct. 31, and the time and place of the competition will be announced to the contestants by mail. There is no cost to register or join in on the fun, but each boy must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Children Will Trick, Treat for UNICEF

UN Project Under YMCA Men's Sponsorship: Collectors Identified

Trick or treat for UNICEF? That's what children from seven Appleton churches will be asking on Halloween in doing their part to help the world's needy children through the United Nations Children's Fund.

The project is sponsored by the Appleton Y's Men's Club, under the direction of Keith Wickert.

The children will receive their official stickers, tags and collection boxes at Sunday school this Sunday. The money they collected will be picked up at Sunday school next Sunday.

Mother Tag
The UNICEF trick or treaters will be officially identified by a sticker and tag showing the silhouette of a mother and child in black on an orange background. Only bearers of this identification are authorized to collect "treats" of coins for UNICEF.

Sunday School children from First Baptist, First Congregational, First English Lutheran, Trinity Lutheran, First Methodist, Memorial Presbyterian and Our Redeemer Lutheran churches will take part in the Appleton UNICEF drive.

$2 Million Raised
Last fall about 3,000,000 American boys and girls in some 11 communities took part in the drive and raised $2 million.

The money goes, through UNICEF, for milk, vaccine, insecticides, vitamins, penicillin and other medicine to help children who are ill or malnourished. Last year UNICEF assisted 107 developing countries, and the aided governments more than matched every dollar of UNICEF aid.

The UNICEF trick or treat program originated in 1950 with a collection of $36, and grew to $2,000,000 in 1961.

Youth organizations from several Appleton churches also are planning a fund-raising activity next weekend to raise money for UNICEF. Definite plans will be announced early next week.

Youth groups which will cooperate in the project include the Appleton B'nai B'rith Youth Organization, the United Presbyterian Youth, the Pilgrim Fellowship of the First Congregational Church, the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist and St. James Methodist churches, and possibly the Appleton Youth Council.

Unidentified Man Tries to Lure Boy Into Car at Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — An attempt by a man to lure a 12-year-old Oshkosh boy into a car was reported to city police here at 6:57 p.m. Friday.

According to Oshkosh police, the boy said he was coming home late Friday afternoon when he was stopped by a man in a 1954 green car on a southside street corner. Several times the man asked the boy if he wanted a ride but the boy refused. The man then offered the boy into the car but the latter still remained adamant, saying that his father would pick him up shortly.

The unidentified man in the car then drove off. When the boy reached home, he related the incident to his mother, who called the police.

There will be a potluck supper at the church at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, followed by the showing of the pictures from Japan at 7 p.m.

Clowns Turn Appleton Into Balloon Joyland

Clowns, balloons and "Big Top" circus music filled the shopping area of downtown Appleton for a time last night. Starting at 7 p.m. and continuing for almost an hour clowns stationed on two College Avenue corners distributed free balloons to young and old alike.

Each balloon heralded the new Big Top Comics which will be introduced in tomorrow's Sunday Post-Crescent. The comic section now including 23 of the nation's favorite comic strips, will be in standard page size instead of the tabloid size formerly used.

While the clowns gave out the free balloons last night, stirring circus music blared from atop the Post-Crescent building with a 24-foot banner proclaiming the advent of the new comics. It all seemed to please the Friday night shoppers.

The Post-Crescent clowns gave away nearly 2,000 balloons in less than an hour.

Clowns also distributed free balloons in the downtown areas of Neenah, Menasha and Oshkosh. A clown visited the Pig Fair at Superior and Washington streets this morning giving away more balloons in the downtown areas of Appleton.

Introduction of the new Big Top Comics is another step taken by Post-Crescent executives to make the Sunday Post-Crescent the finest Sunday paper available in the area. It has been made possible by the relaxation of state distribution rights previously held by Milwaukee and Chicago newspapers.

Citizens to Back $300,000 Cost for Winnebago Park

OSHKOSH — Support of an expenditure of $300,000 for a new Winnebago County park and recreation area will be voiced by a county-wide citizens committee at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Winnebago County Board will have a special order of business at that time to hear a presentation on the proposed development of a park and recreation area near Winnebago.

The annual budget session of the county board will begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday with the election of a trustee for the county hospital and Pleasant Acres Home, one of the first items of business. The term of E. J. Ledvina, Oshkosh, expires this year.

Also scheduled to be elected are a highway commissioner, a post now held by Leon Morrissey, and a purchasing agent, now held by County Treas. Frank Luedeker. Reports by department heads will be given from Tuesday through Thursday with Friday planned for a full day of committee sessions.

Speaks in Kaukauna

Won't Lift Quarantine, Sen. Proxmire Says

"We will not suspend the Cuban blockade while we are negotiating; we cannot afford to," said Sen. William Proxmire in an address on the Cuban crisis at the Hub Hall in Kaukauna Friday night.

"We will negotiate for a few days, maybe even a week, but not much more," he continued. "If we wait, their strength would become such that they could force us to take their terms."

The senator quoted a Chicago newspaper as saying that odds are 50-50 that we will have to invade Cuba. He said such an act would be a fearful recourse, but we must remove these bases, even if it should come to an invasion.

"Although it is a paradox, we need strength to conserve peace," Proxmire said. "We have to have the power to impress Khrushchev."

Have Awesome Power

"It is hard to conceive the awesome power we have today, the power it will take to destroy the missile bases, if necessary," he said. "We have 600 B-52 bombers flying every day, carrying missiles capable of hitting a target 500 to 1,000 miles away."

"Each of these missiles has more destructive power than all of the weapons used in all wars up to the present time combined," said Proxmire.

Proxmire said that, rather than fighting, a more desirable goal should be the creation of peace. He cited the Food for Peace Program and said:

"We should continue building hospitals, roads and schools and continue to eliminate the things that cause war."

Proxmire cited the Peace Corps as one of our greatest efforts in trying to build peace. "When the Peace Corps was formed, we anticipated 500 volunteers. We now have 5,000, and they (countries receiving assistance) are crying for twice that number."

Praises Foreign Aid

The senator said foreign aid was one of our best tools to build peace. "We have had waste in our foreign aid program. I led the fight on the floor of the senate to cut down foreign aid expenditures, but not because I am against foreign aid, only because of the extreme waste. I thought our foreign aid program needed discipline," he said.

The senator said another solution to the Cuban problem may be a revolt by the people, "not only because of the oppression they're under, but also because

Aldermen Split on Improvements Plan

Aldermen Okay Kaukauna Pay Increase

Four Week Vacation Following 20 Year Employment Denied

KAUKAUNA — The board of public works voted Thursday night to offer the city employees union a 5-cent per hour wage increase rather than the 10-cent per hour increase requested.

If accepted, the new base rate for common labor will be $1.97 per hour.

In other action, aldermen approved the purchase of 18 suits of foul weather gear as recommended by the union, set Sept. 15 as the deadline for contract negotiations in future years and approved revision of the disciplinary and grievance procedure.

The 4-weeks paid vacation after 20 years service was denied as was the request for actual time worked in addition to the 2-hour call in time now received by workers. Board members voted not to reduce the probationary period for workers from 60 to 30 days, but rather will recommend to the union a change in the contract giving workers 60 days in which to join the union instead of the 30 days as is now in effect.

The city proposals will be presented to the union for study with a joint meeting of union representatives and the board of public works set for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday to discuss the contract.

Makeshift Long-Range Program Approved, but Council Still Disagrees

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Appleton Common Council has adopted a makeshift long-range capital improvement program covering anticipated projects through 1963.

The reason aldermen did not approve a more complete capital improvement budget at a meeting earlier in the week is because the council expects to receive a report from Schellie and Associates, the consultant to the regional plan commission.

Aldermen had the sixth draft of a five-year improvement program before them, along with a report prepared by the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin at the request of the Appleton Taxpayers' Association.

Completion Pending
The capital improvement report, with some recommendations, will be completed by Schellie by Dec. 1, according to Charles Zahn, a representative of the firm.

At present there are differences of opinion on the financial policy the city should adopt in undertaking any kind of a long-range program.

In a communication to the council earlier in the week, Schellie requested aldermen to arrive at some policy. The consultant indicated the needs of the city should dictate the money to be spent on future outlays even if it meant a fluctuating tax rate.

Representatives of the Appleton Taxpayers' association would have a stabilized tax rate. They suggest projects be paid for through bonding and regular budgetary procedures.

It was apparent from the action of the council that it is in no position to officially adopt a long-range public construction program for the future. Although there has been considerable delay already, it appears more study will be made of a capital improvement program before one gets adopted.

In the meantime, the council as a stop-gap agreed to "forget" about the 1962 phase of the 1962-1966 program prepared by the board of public works, and decided instead to start planning with 1963 in mind.

Program Decided
Instead of following the public works program, the council elected to "study and adopt the Appleton Taxpayers' report for 1963 and have Schellie prepare a program which would start with 1964."

Realizing that valuable time already has been lost, the council intends to consider the reports of the taxpayers' group and Schellie in arriving at the course to be taken from 1964 through 1968.

There has been some criticism of the board of public works and taxpayers' group long-range programs because they include sewer construction and maintenance projects which normally could be classified as annual budgetary items.

No mention is made of the rebuilding of College Avenue in the 1963 capital improvement program. The items do include: Northside junior high school, $1,500,000 of which $150,000 is estimated chargeable to residents outside the city.

Southeast area storm sewers, $130,000 of which $80,000 should come from the current tax levy. Hoover Park improvement, $32,000.

Completion of Matthias Street trunk line, $150,000.

Construction of a sanitary interceptor from County Trunk E to Kimberly, $40,000.

The Appleton Taxpayers' Association says the city should set $80,000 aside annually for capital improvements instead of $75,000 as originally planned.

Ironically, the public works department report which was not adopted has the reconstruction of College Avenue between Rankin and Story Streets starting in 1963 at a cost of $600,000.

Thus, the city of Appleton finds itself with a capital improvement program with ambiguities.

Idea Offered in Kaukauna

Police, Fire Could be One Integrated Unit

KAUKAUNA — The idea of integrating the police and fire departments into a department of public safety has been mentioned here.

The idea sprung up after the fire department requested four new men effective Jan. 1.

In interviews with some commission members Wednesday, advantages of the integration of departments was outlined. Initial advantage, according to commissioners, would be reduction in the number of men needed to provide protection for the city.

All men would be trained in first aid, fire fighting and police work. These men would patrol the city in cars or on foot and all would be equipped with radios to a central office, indicated commissioners.

Has Been Tried
Patrol wagons would be equipped with fire extinguishers and other equipment suitable for handling minor fires, thus eliminating the need for call-out of large equipment for minor rubbish or grass fires. In event of a major fire, all personnel would be summoned to the scene where each would have a specific job such as policing or fire fighting.

Other cities have adopted the "department of public safety" idea with success, according to the commissioners. Articles on the merit request for four men and organization and operation of the department have been featured in many magazines. They agree, the integration is not too common in this state, due mainly to the fire and police pension fund arrangement in Madison which makes it difficult for a city to adopt such a plan.

Reduction in personnel in the departments would enable the city to pay higher wages for such work, thus getting well qualified men to apply for the positions. The commissioners indicated no serious study has been given the problem, although some feel the city should appropriate funds to undertake a thorough investigation to determine whether such a department would be a saving to taxpayers without jeopardizing the safety and welfare of citizens.

Other Alternative
Some commissioners feel they should study the possibility of establishing a volunteer fire brigade to work in conjunction with the fire department, such as is now in effect in De Pere.

These men could be given a yearly salary plus an hourly wage while fighting fires. The yearly salary would serve as compensation for practice sessions and other training which volunteers would be required to have and of which they would have to keep a record.

The fire and police commission is to study the fire department request for four men and organization and operation of the department have been featured in

Earring Metals Cause Allergies to Appear

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have worn earrings for a number of years without difficulty. However now the backs of my ears break out, water, then scab over.

It is very irritating and while it will heal in a few days with a salve, the trouble repeats itself as soon as I wear earrings again. Several friends have the same trouble--M.J.S.

This is not at all unusual. Many people are--or belatedly become--allergic to various metals, including those used for jewelry. You may be sensitive to one metal and not to another. Some experimenting may show what you can and cannot wear. Nickel, chrome plating and some other metals cause much trouble; silver and gold may cause less.

Another possible answer--aside from not wearing jewelry--is to have it lacquered so the metal can't touch you. I don't guarantee results, but sometimes this works.

"Bunion Bandage"

Dear Dr. Molner: Enclosed is an ad for a "bunion bandage." At my age (56) I have had bunions as long as I can remember. Would this contrivance gradually restore my big toe to normal position?--D.K.

I'd say that perhaps the gadget could "restore" your big toe to normal position" in another fifty years.

It is futile to expect some patient gadget to correct, quickly, a trouble that has been developing for decades. The best way to get relief is to go to a specialist, accept his judgment as to what is and isn't possible at this stage of the bunion, and follow his advice. His reputation depends on the number of people for whom he can give real help. He may have to charge you as much for an examination as you would spend for some gadget or other. You may have to go to him for a number of visits.

He may (in the case of bunions) tell you to get special shoes, or he may say foot surgery is the easiest and surest way to solve a problem that has been bothering you for years.

But he wants to get results! And you want results. So go to (or have your regular doctor refer you to) an orthopedic specialist or a podiatrist. For you, the cheapest advice will be the most skilled advice.

Takes Corthone

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking corthone for arthritis but have been told it has bad effects, such as heart trouble and softening of the bones. I don't know how I could get along without it. Please give me your advice.--Mrs. W.C.

Continue as long as you have good results and your doctor approves--for I'm sure you are taking it under your physician's instructions.

Cortisone, like any strong medication, can sometimes have bad effects as well as good ones. I do not know of any reason to think it causes heart disease. It can in some cases interfere with heart disease which already existed. It can, occasionally cause a brittleness of bones but not a softening of them. Let your doctor do the worrying for you. Just tell him of unusual circumstances (if any) and keep on using cortisone as long as he knows it isn't doing you any harm.

Wine for Diabetics?

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently read that wine is permitted with meals for diabetics. True or false?--P.P.M.

True for some people, false for others. This depends on the severity of the case. In general, diabetics should not drink alcoholic beverages. If your doctor, knowing your particular case, permits a little wine, then you may use it. I would not drink any without his approval. If he says no, then he means no.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover printing and handling.

Wear Clothes Backward For Fun on Halloween

BY CAPPY DICK

This is the time to get your costume ready for Halloween, and I have some suggestions that may help.

For example, how about wearing your clothes backwards? A boy can put his shirt, necktie and suit coat on backwards. If he has a pair of toe rubbers, he can fasten them to the back of his shoes so the toes point backwards. His cap should be on backwards, too. A girl can put her jacket (including a corsage) on backwards and can wear a hat that will look especially funny when backwards.

It also is fun to make yourself look very tall and thin. A girl can wear high-heeled shoes and a skirt that reaches to the

Church Group Picks Appleton As Quarters

New Sect Created Friday, Includes State Membership

Appleton was selected as the headquarters for one of the four regional associations of the Wisconsin conference of the United Church of Christ, which came in to being Friday afternoon in a constituting conference at Madison.

The United Church of Christ represents a merger of the Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Churches in Wisconsin. The United Church includes more than 300 congregations with a total membership of more than 100,000.

The Rev. John Scheib of Appleton was named to the full-time staff and will be Northeast association minister. The other association headquarters will be at Eau Claire, Madison and Waukegan.

Serving on the board of directors for the Northeast association are the Rev. John C. Hanchett of Menasha, the Rev. Egon Schiffer of Ripon, Gordon Aebischer of Chilton and Mrs. Edward Douglas of Appleton.

Full-time staff leaders are Dr. Clarence F. McCall of Oak Park, Ill., whose office will be at Madison. Dr. Paul C. Kehle of Waukegan as Southern Association minister and the Rev. Mr. Scheib as Northeast Association minister. A Northwest Association minister has not been named.

The directors named Miss Mary Gern. Madison, as director for Christian education and the Rev. Jemaly. Madison, as the youth director.

Officers Elected

Conference officers elected are the Rev. Kendrick Strong, Janesville, moderator. Mrs. George Kihlenberg, Two Rivers, vice moderator. The Rev. Edmond Henning, Elkhart Lake, secretary. And Norman A. Schowalter, West Bend, treasurer.

Leaders elected to carry out the work of the conference in the state Milwaukee. Chairman of the commission on Christian World Mission, as chairman of the commission.

Appleton Council Opposes Billboards in Parking Lot

The Appleton Common Council has put the brakes to leasing recommendation struck from the property at municipal parking committee report.

At the urging of Ald. R. P. Groh, who said billboards in the downtown district were not welcome, the council reversed a public safety committee recommendation by a 13 to 6 vote.

The committee had recommended the city lease space in the parking lot on E. Lawrence Street to Standard of Appleton for $300 a year.

Not Proper

"I've checked into this and the businessmen who are trying to enhance and make the downtown area more attractive do not think quest had been granted.

"I hate to see our business and town Appleton Retail Association residential areas degraded by the green light to decorate nine billboards," Groh added. He made blocks with yule decorations.

Little Chute Project

School Committee Asks Site Cost Information

LITTLE CHUTE — The village school committee voted Thursday night to ask the state superintendent of schools to supply the village information relative to suitable areas for a new high school.

This included type and size of the building, classroom layout, number of teachers needed and recommended courses of study.

The committee felt this information was necessary to help determine cost of the proposed school and to keep voters properly advised. Members indicated every effort will be made to provide the community with the best educational facilities and curriculum.

Early this year the village was granted a 2-year extension to the right knee, and Judith M. Reigh, law requiring all school districts to build a high school or joint school district having a public high school. Most districts were required to have a high school by July 1 this year, but the village has until July 1, 1964 to meet the law.

An exploratory informal referendum early this year showed a majority of citizens interested in building a public high school rather than joining another district.

Members of the school committee include Village President Paul Kostka, Orville Bongers, Richard Ebbens, Thomas Lamers, Gerard Van Hoof and Joseph Vandenberg.

No injuries were noted by Winnebago County Police in another mishap on State Highway 21 occurring at 12:45 a.m. today about two miles west of Oshkosh. The accident occurred, police said, when a car driven by Richard A. Scherz, 21, 1126 Knapp St., Oshkosh, sideswiped an auto driven by Hubert A. Marohn, 46, route 4, Oshkosh.

Firemen Answer Two Alarms to Railway Yards

KAUKAUNA — Firemen answered two calls to the Chicago and North Western Railway yards within minutes of one another about 10:20 a.m. Friday.

First call was to extinguish a blaze in the muffler of a diesel engine located on tracks near the main depot. As three firemen were using dry chemical to extinguish the blaze, another call was received to put out a grass fire further down the tracks, believed to have been started by the burning engine.

Two trucks were needed to handle the calls leaving one fireman in the station.

2 From Oshkosh Injured in Minor Accident Friday

OSHKOSH — Two Oshkosh residents received minor injuries in a two-car mishap at 4:20 p.m. 1.5 miles west of here.

Injured, but not requiring immediate medical attention, were the drivers of the two autos. Edith M. Reil, 500 Sheboygan St., who received a minor bump on the right knee, and Judith M. Reigh, route 4, who sustained a possible whiplash injury to the neck.

According to Winnebago County Police, the accident occurred when the Reil car struck the rear portion of the Reigh vehicle as the latter signaled for a left turn. The Reil vehicle struck the Reigh car a second time before coming to a halt in a roadside ditch.

Damage to the vehicles, both of which were headed west, was estimated at about $400 to the Reil car and about $225 to the Reigh auto.

Truly an Artist

Miriam Makeba Proves Universality of Music

BY MARSHALL GRANROS

Emotion vocalized. That's what true ethnic folk music is. Love, hate, fear, despair... given sounds. The words are unimportant, the listener doesn't have to know the language of the song, only the feeling behind it.

There are many so-called folk singers and folk-song groups in the spotlight today, riding the crest of a sudden interest in this type of music. Most of them could learn much from Miriam Makeba as the enthusiastic audience at Lawrence College Chapel found out Thursday night.

The program included emotion-packed songs from just about everywhere: Songs from South Africa, the West Indies, the Congo, the Americas, Indonesia, Israel. And they all drove home the fact that we are all basically the same, regardless what we are or where in this ever-smaller world we come from.

Two Lullabies

Mother love is the same everywhere — a lullaby shows this. In "Suliram" from Indonesia or "Ntjilo Ntjilo," a song about a little canary, from Miss Makeba's own home tribe, the Xosa of South Africa.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau MADISON — The public service commission has approved the plans of the state highway department and the Chicago and Northwestern railway company for the installation of two automatic flashing-light signals and short-arm gates at the Broadway street three track crossing in Wrightstown.

The street carries County Highway DD traffic and the average vehicle movement at the intersection is more than 900 cars daily, the state agency said.

Five From Lawrence Named To Endowed Professorships

Woman Among Those Selected For Honors in Various Arts

Five Lawrence College faculty members were named to endowed professorships this week by action of the executive committee of the board of trustees.

They are Dr. Elizabeth Forter to the Edwards-Alexander chair in English; Dr. Charles Breunig to the D. G. Ormsby chair in history; Dr. William A. Chaney to the George M. Steele chair in ancient history; Dr. John McMahon to the Isaac M. Wing chair in German; and Dr. Carl Wellman to the Lee Claflin-David Salem Mann chair in philosophy.

An endowed chair connotes honor, and it has never been Lawrence's practice to bestow a chair on any faculty member of less rank than associate professor.

The Edwards-Alexander chair in English is the only one of Lawrence's 19 honor professorships that must be given to a woman. It was established in 1900 by L. M. Alexander, president of the board of trustees and later donor of two gymnasiums, and his kinswoman Mrs. John Edwards of Milwaukee.

One of the objectives set by a ladies' calling committee for a big Lawrence endowment drive in the 1890's was "to obtain for the faculty a woman with distinction in literary scholarship, an inspiration to students, and a fine teacher."

A combination of effort between the ladies' calling committee, Alexander and Mrs. Edwards finally created the chair a week or two after the turn of the century, but it wasn't until 1902 that the first woman was appointed—Emma Kate Corkhill, one of the all-time Lawrence greats in the classroom. Among the seven women who have held the chair over the half-century have been Dr. Frances Dorothy Bethurum, and the late Dr. Dorothy Waples Dr. Forter, the new chairholder, is a Shaw scholar.

The D. G. Ormsby chair, now assigned to Dr. Charles Breunig, is named for a Lawrence trustee who was the principal donor to the freshmen women's dormitory which still bears his name. Ormsby began life in the western lands by peddling wooden bowls from Ohio to Wisconsin, and started his enterprises here with a capital of $40. Throughout his life he was involved in 20 business schemes, the first eleven of which were unsuccessful. He worked his way through a succession of farms, lime kilns, grocery stores, oil refineries, brass and iron works, barley speculations, flour mills and barge companies.

One of his earliest ventures was shipping ten gallons of petroleum from Pennsylvania to Milwaukee in a beer keg, the first known shipment of kerosene to reach Wisconsin. He was wiped out by the events of the 19th century—the Civil War killed his cloth bag company, but caused his iron and brass company to be a success. Still another

Paid Television Has Tryout in Hartford

If Eastern Experiment Successful, Fee-Vee Will Invade American Scene

BY JINGO

The average televisioner spends an average of six hours a day devoted to televiewing and the televisioner cost each of us commercial spenders 3 1/2 cents on every dollar that goes to a sponsoring business. The 42 hours a week divided into the total of that 3 1/2-cent-a-dollar tribute comes out to a somewhat expensive pastime.

Theoretically, the watching would be cheaper—per unit—if the televisioner spent even more time before the set. However, with things as they are, that time could be paid for with deader coin.

Out of the East—like the sun—is rising a new light, a new promise. It's called pay television—or facetiously Fee-Vee. The theory apparently is that the televisioner will have better watching and be more selective since he'll be paying directly for his watching.

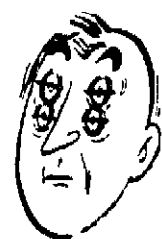

The focal point of this new rising is Hartford, Conn., where the Federal Communications Commission has allowed RKO General, Inc., and Zenith Radio Corp. to spend $10 million testing their Fee-Vee on some 1,000 residents of greater Hartford. The exact location of the experiment is UHF Channel 18 which pours out some 30 hours of pay television weekly.

Sample Costs
The Fee-Vee fare includes children's show, specials such as the big hallyhoed and little delivered Patterson-Liston go-around, and movies—mostly movies. The fee for this fare ranges from a quarter for the tots' educational shots up to $1.50 for the Liston bang. The movies—including such "subsequent first run" films as "Hatan," "The Notorious Landlady," "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone" and "Twist Around the Clock"—cost a buck a piece. The subsequent first run nomen clature boils down to mean films that recently appeared in real first-run Hartford theaters.

Response also has a range from contentment and praise to "The programming is very disgusting. Why don't they get foreign films instead of those mediocre movies?"

Channel 18 could expect such differences — it's trying some thing new! More reliable, per day, haps, is its circulation figures. In the first three months the Fee-Vee sets jumped from 200 to 1,000 and Paul Reed will be at the station feels it can hit 4,000 by the end of the year.

How it Works
The Fee-Vee works this way: There's a gimmick at the station called an encoder that messes up the signal going out from the transmitter. On top of the Fee-Vee sets are decoders which, loze, Mattern was a prize win when the special program number there in a composition conber is dialed, unscrambles the test held for the dedication of

Area Bond Sales Total $3,409,501 For 9-Month Period

Sales of Series E & H savings bonds in a five-county area surrounding the Fox Cities totaled $3,409,501 for the first nine months of 1962. Sales in Wisconsin for the same period amounted to $67,010,448.

Sales of E Bonds continue at about the same dollar volume as during 1961, but sales of H Bonds have decreased considerably.

Sales totaled $192,205 in Calumet County, $1,080,698 in Outagamie County, $178,523 in Shawano County, $343,650 in Waupaca County and $1,614,425 in Winnebago County.

The percentage of the goal achieved is 56 per cent in Calumet, 55.4 per cent in Outagamie, 44.8 per cent in Shawano, 57.7 per cent in Waupaca, and 66.5 per cent in Winnebago counties.

Wisconsin citizens have purchased 62.1 per cent of their quota for the first nine months of 1962, while the nation as a whole has purchased 69.4 per cent of the quota.

Legal Sanity Crux of Trial On Defenders

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Defenders concludes the two-parter, "Madman," with an eloquent anti-capital punishment plea. There are scenes of the electric chair which some may find too powerful; they are sure to be controversial. Don Gordon is the confessed killer, whose psychoses are obvious but not the sort to qualify as legal insanity. E. G. Marshall almost tearfully attempts to save him from execution because of his mental illness. Sylvia Sidney, as Gordon's mother, and Larry Haines, as the prison warden, contribute fine performances to this excellent hour.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — High spot of the Jackie Gleason Show is a giddy pantomime, with Cara Williams joining Jackie. They are playing a husband and wife in the morning, with their first minutes complicated by a dog, a baby and a coffee pot. There is a Halloween flavor to the show, in-vading both the newsreel blackouts and Jackie's Joe the Bartender skit. During the blackouts, you'll see T. C. Jones, the famed female impersonator, in a bit involving women's wigs.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Sam Benedict (Edmond O'Brien) and his assistant (Richard Rust) handle two cases this week, both involving rather unpleasant people. Vera Miles is an heiress whose late father leaves her a complicated estate. And Woodrow Parfrey is an architect whose drinking interferes with his work.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — A bit of homespun psychology is dispensed on Mr. Smith Goes to Washington this week. Red Foley, ah Uncle Cooper, is the dispenser of wisdom. The case in point is a particularly ugly statue of a local hero which Academy. Fond du Lac, and for Sen Smith's constituents want to see erected in Washington.

8-10 (Channel 4-5) — Saturday Night at the Movies trots out the 1953 comedy which was only so in diverting a creek and thus bring run to "the squatters." Bond was set at $100.

LIQUIDATION SALE NOW IN PROGRESS
 OPEN SUNDAY 1 P.M.-5 P.M.

IT'S A BITTER PILL TO SWALLOW! BUT HERE'S THE LOW DOWN:
 It nearly breaks our heart to see our huge stocks of quality stock go on sale at the ridiculously low prices you've advertised here! But there's not much we can do about it for our lease has expired and we decided to sell out—liquidate our entire stock and discontinue the Appleton branch forever. That's why profit is not the object of this sale—we consider it good business to take our losses now... swallow our pride, dump these huge stocks and vacate these premises as soon as possible.

OPEN NIGHTS 9 A.M.-9 P.M.

INSTANT CREDIT UP TO 24 MONTHS TO PAY!

WE ARE SORRY
 If you were one of the hundreds that were unable to get service the opening day of this sale. We expected a crowd, but hardly the massive throng that jammed our store all day Friday—everything is again in order, and you can now find just what you are looking for—and best of all—at unbelievable low close out prices.

NOTICE! Because of these very low prices, a slight charge must be made on any purchase which must be delivered. SAVE! By taking your purchase with you... bring your own trucks, trailers, car top carriers or what have you. Extra warehouse men will be on hand to assist you with the loading.
